Dear East Baton Rouge Parish,

This past year has been one of challenges, growth and adaptation. Together we have overcome so much and continue to learn and improve.

In the battle to combat the spread of COVID-19, we are living, working, celebrating and even mourning in new ways. It has not been easy, but we are doing it. It has not passed as quickly as we would like, but we persevere. Somehow, as a community, we have found ways to come together while staying apart. We have adapted to discover innovative ways to raise up one another from a distance.

Together we are also listening, learning and leaning on one another to form and improve relationships. I remain committed to building trust and strengthening relationships with the community we serve. While we have made many advancements in technology, services, security and outreach; we are also always evaluating, refining and updating our training and communication efforts. Growth and improvement must be an ongoing process.

I am honored and humbled to continue to serve as your Sheriff, and I am beyond grateful for the men and women that serve our community daily. We appreciate the support of the community and their assistance in keeping our parish safe. We remain committed and vigilant in addressing crime, protecting the community and building bridges of unity through outreach and education. We will always be safer, stronger and better together.

God bless you,

Sheriff Sid J. Gautreaux, III
